

Hello Lions,

For this week, I'd like to highlight Mrs. Bernhard, who teaches Math and our College and Career Readiness classes. The College and Career Readiness class is designed to prepare our students for higher education by not only helping them with homework and classwork, but also student goals, monitoring, team building, and future planning in education. Mrs. Bernhard strives to help prepare students for secondary, postsecondary and career education. She says, "I love when I hear that students change their perception of math and share with me they actually like math now." For Mrs. Bernhard, connecting with students and being there for them whether it is in Math class or CCR class is her first priority. Through these unprecedented times, she tries to make school a place where her students want to be. She wants to ensure that as her students struggle through concepts and topics that they still make time to share about their days and weekends. In her CCR course, students have visited several college campuses virtually and discussed what goals they have for their future; review daily various life skills that they will use, and discuss the importance of setting goals for ourselves. She wants everyone to know, "When I hear students say that before they used to hate math class, but now they like it, that truly warms my heart. The fear and anxiety that math gives students is something I aim to alter. Math Rules!"

We are halfway through 3rd quarter. Teachers will be completing student progress reports this Friday. Be on the lookout for your student's progress report next week.

Registration season is upon us. Counselors are working with the elementary schools the first two weeks of February and then will be in 7th grade World History classes the last two weeks for 7th graders going into 8th grade. Cypress counselors will be visiting 8th grade Science classes to speak with our current 8th graders going into 9th grade. Please see attached pages for dates and times counselors will be in classes.

This Thursday please plan on joining us for Coffee with the Principal at 9:00am. We will be hosting a guest speaker who will be speaking to parents about the Anaheim Pledge. Please do not miss out on this opportunity to learn about how Lexington and AUHSD is helping to prepare your student for secondary education.

Reminder that next Monday, February 8, there is no school in celebration of the first President's day weekend.

Have a great week,

Principal Daniel Klatzker

Power of Youth Challenge

Youth Leading Racial Healing

A leadership and service opportunity for youth focused on promoting racial equity and addressing systemic racism.

Power of Youth Challenge: Youth Leading Racial Healing is a leadership and service opportunity supporting youth-designed projects that promote racial equity and address systemic racism. The Challenge provides young people (ages 13-19) across the U.S. with the opportunity to identify a need in their communities related to racial healing and apply for a $250 grant to support a (COVID-safe) service project. In addition to building their own leadership, service, and career skills, grant winners will have the opportunity to increase understanding, communication, caring, and respect within their communities through service projects that address racial division and injustice.
