

Hello Lions,

Happy President's Day. Today, I wanted to highlight Susan Larsen, English teacher and Lexington's Technology Coach. Ms. Larsen teaches multiple sections of English courses and feels passionately about giving students the tools to think critically and creatively. Her English courses are designed to introduce students to the pursuit of inquiry-based learning. In addition, this course teaches students to think broadly, read closely, write compellingly, and speak passionately about a wide range of topics. Lessons revolve around inquiry of a central question and feature diverse sets of text designed to teach students how to make claims that they must prove using evidence. This inquiry-based approach is challenging since students are being asked to think critically using the same processes they will be asked to perform in higher learning and in their professional lives. She wants parents to know that "students who learn this inquiry-based approach and who practice perseverance will attain the skills needed to be successful in high school and beyond."

Lexington Lions Den program is open to students. This is a supervised virtual all-day program designed for students to increase student engagement, connection with other students and achieve academic success through motivation and other engagement activities. We are concerned about our students' mental state and have put together a program that will help your child and help you through these challenging times. Please see attached flyer for more details. If interested, please contact the main office at 714-220-4201.

This Wednesday, Feb. 17th– Virtual Parent Learning Walk: Cypress High School and Lexington Jr. High will be cohosting monthly Virtual Parent Learning Walks. The event will take place this Wednesday, February 17 from 8:45-9:45am. Please join us as we observe our virtual classrooms and discuss how to better support your students during distance learning. Inspired by the work of photographer Carrie Mae Weems, the Photo students created public service announcements in a project called All You Need is Love: Lex Takes 6! These PSAs give COVID safety tips and share messages of encouragement and hope with the Lexington community. These PSAs will also be made into posters, which will be displayed around Lexington when the campus reopens.

Through With Chew Week (TWCW) is a week of national activism that empowers youth to stand out, speak up and seize control against Big Tobacco and involve your community to raise awareness about the negative effects of spit tobacco use. TWCW was established in 1989 by the American Academy of Otolaryngology — Head and Neck Surgery, Inc. (www.entnet.org) and is an educational campaign to decrease spit tobacco use and increase awareness of the negative health effects of using these products. TWCW is held the third full week of February each year.

The Great American Spit Out (GASpO) is held on the Thursday of Through With Chew Week. It gives spit tobacco users the inspiration to quit for a day or even longer. We encourage partners from other states to adopt TWCW and GASpO, and we look forward to hearing about how you helped your community save a face.
